

SOLD

Spring 2025

In the research environment Language Studies and Comparative Literature including Subject Didactics (SOLD), we apply a perspective which is both subject- and didactics-oriented, and the SOLD seminar series constitutes a focal point with the aim of promoting research in these fields.

I forskningsmiljön SOLD (Språk och litteraturvetenskap samt ämnenas didaktik) anlägger vi både ett ämnesorienterat och ett didaktiskt perspektiv på språk- och litteraturvetenskap. Seminarieverksamheten inom SOLD utgör en samlande punkt med syftet att främja forskning inom dessa fält.

19 February:

Pia Sundqvist, University of Oslo, Norway

Mehmet Sercan Uztosun, Norwegian University of Science and Technology, Norway
(Hosted by Olcay Sert)

Getting a Grip on Extramural English and Proficiency: Researching L2 English Learners in Scandinavia Using the Extramural English Scale

Time: 13:15-15:00

Venue: Online on Zoom

19 March:

Julianne Newmark (Tampere University / University of New Mexico)

(Hosted by Niclas Johansson)

Representations of Transborder Indigeneity in D. H. Lawrence: Learning from in situ Reception

Time: 13:15-15:00

Venue: Empirin (A6-013), Eskilstuna

16 April:

Mika Ishino & Junko Takahashi, Doshisha University, Japan

(Hosted by Olcay Sert)

Training “Task Preliminaries”: A Case of Collaborative Interventions in an English Teacher Education Context in Japan

Time: 13:15-15:00

Venue: Online on Zoom

21 May:

Carmen Zamorano Llana, Dalarna University, Sweden

(Hosted by Niclas Johansson)

Resilience through Crisis Temporalities in Contemporary British and Irish Fiction

Time: 13:15-15:00

Venue: Turing (U3-104), Västerås

4 June:

SOLD Closing event

Time: 13:15-15:00

Venue: Turing (U3-104), Västerås

