Course Overview for 2021/2022
SEV25

Course Overview for the International Business Management, 180 credits

Programme code: SEV25

Valid for the academic year 2021/2022

This is a translation of the original course overview in Swedish which has been examined and approved by the study director at School of Business, Society and Engineering 2021-02-17

About the course overview

Each study programme has a set programme syllabus in which, among other things, all courses included in the programme are stated, divided into academic years. The programme syllabus is complemented annually with a course overview in which is stated the study period the course is given, in which campus city it is given, whether it collides with another course etc. The course overview is valid for one academic year at a time.

Courses belonging to the disciplinary domain for a degree have been marked with an “X” in the column HO.

C1, C2 etc. in the study period columns refer to the timetable positions and show whether the courses collide or not. Courses with the same C value collide, and courses with different C values do not collide. Courses with the “X” value may collide with other courses within the study period.

The following applies to current C value.

C1 = monday pm + wednesday am

C2 = monday am + thursday am

C3 = tusday am + thursday pm

C4 = tusday pm + friday am

C5 = wednesday pm + friday pm

In the column ”pg/comp” ”pg” indicates that you have guaranteed admission to the course for that particular study period and that programme semester. ”comp” indicates that you are applying in competition with all the other programme students at MDH. In the column for ”city” ”E” indicates that the course is given in Eskilstuna and ”V” that it is given in Västerås.

Level and Classification of Progressive Specialization

The University uses the following designations for the classification of progressive specialization, where “G” indicates that the course belongs to a programme at first-cycle level and “A” that the course belongs to second-cycle level:

- G1N course with only upper secondary school entry requirements
- G1F course with less than 60-credit course/courses at first-cycle level as entry requirements
- G1E course including a specially-designed degree project for a higher education diploma
- G2F course with at least 60-credit course/courses at first-cycle level as entry requirements
- G2E course with at least 60-credit course/courses at first-cycle level as entry requirements and which includes a degree project for a Bachelor’s degree
- GXX course which cannot be classified according to the above model
- A1N course with only course/courses at first-cycle level as entry requirements
- A1F course with course/courses at second-cycle level as entry requirements
- A1E course which includes a degree project for a Master’s degree (60 credits)
- A2E course which includes a degree project for a Master’s degree (120 credits)
- AXX course which cannot be classified according to the above model

Choice within the programme

During the course of your education you may be given the opportunity to choose courses within the programme. The choice must be made no later than 15 April before the autumn semester and 15 October for the spring semester. Before these choices are made the host School will provide information about the various choices and how to go about choosing.

When you make your choices you should always base these on the programme syllabus together with the degree requirements for the degree you wish to obtain. Please contact your Study Adviser for more information.

To be able to be admitted to a course you must always fulfil the specific entry requirements stated in the course syllabus, regardless of whether you have guaranteed admission or not. For more information about choices of courses within a programme, see MDH’s web page www.mdh.se. See also the local System of Qualifications which contains all the qualification descriptors.

Other information

Depending on the number of applicants for the individual courses, some courses may be cancelled. You should therefore indicate alternative options when choosing your courses.
