

Refund of tuition fee

In accordance with Section 12 of the Ordinance on Application Fees and Tuition Fees, the University may refund the whole or a part of the tuition fee if a student has paid the tuition fee but is no longer liable to payment in accordance with Section 5 of the Ordinance on Application Fees and Tuition Fees. The refund shall relate to the part of the study programme for which the student is not liable to payment.

The tuition fee can be refunded, on written application from the student, in cases where the student can verify (where appropriate with a certificate) that one of the following reasons is applicable:

- That the tuition fee has been paid erroneously,
- That the student has acquired a change of status and thereby is no longer liable to payment,
- That the student has not or has no longer been granted a residence permit in Sweden,
- That the student has paid the fee too late in the semester, when the student no longer has the right to commence the course or study programme. In normal cases the rule is that the student has access to the course or study programme during the registration period – unless otherwise notified by the School.
- That the student has submitted an application of approved leave from studies within three weeks of commencement of the course or study programme,
- That the student has withdrawn from the course or study programme within three weeks of its commencement, or
- That the student has received a credit transfer for the course to be read.
- That the student is awarded a scholarship

A student requesting a refund of tuition fees shall apply for this on a form available at www.mdu.se. The Vice-Chancellor's delegation makes clear who takes decisions on refunds. Decisions to refund, or to reject all or part of the application for a refund, may not be appealed against pursuant to Chapter 12, Sections 2 and 4 of the Higher Education Ordinance (Högskoleförordningen).

An administrative fee of 3000 SEK will be charged to the student and will be deducted from the refunded tuition fee.
